

Tilly's list

- To learn to tango. Preferably in Buenos Aires. More difficult than ever with a bust Achilles!
- To eat at a Churrascaria (all you can eat steak). In Brazil.
- To see Natalia Osipova perform at the Royal Opera House in any ballet.
- To get another letter printed in The Times letter page, bottom right hand corner.
- To gather all my children, now grown and flown, to go for a villa holiday in the sun somewhere.
- To overcome my fear of making soufflé and produce it at a meal for friends.
- To visit the Louvre, as I have never yet been in Paris on a day when it was open.
- To learn Scottish country dancing so I actually know what I am doing.
- Make a beautiful picture for each of my loved ones with my new framing skills, trying to capture something precious about each of them in so doing
- To write out 'Desiderata' in my best italics and read it every time I feel blue.
